

Investment Strategy

The Walden Social Equity Fund strives to achieve long term growth of capital through a diversified portfolio of higher quality common stocks. While the stocks of high quality companies with a history of consistent earnings growth are emphasized, representation is maintained across a wide range of industries to achieve portfolio diversification and balance. Industry exposure is varied over time, based on economic expectations.

The Fund's social screening process seeks to identify companies that the Adviser believes are better than peers for environmental performance, employment practices, community relations, and product quality. The Fund avoids investing in companies that, to the Adviser's knowledge, earn significant revenues from tobacco, alcoholic beverages, or gaming activities; earn significant revenues from the manufacture or sale of military weapons systems or firearms; have critical, direct involvement in nuclear power production; or significantly support human rights abuses.

The value of Fund shares are subject to loss primarily related to stock market risk. The Fund is not appropriate for investors concerned mainly with preservation of principal.

Socially Responsive Investing

The Fund utilizes social investment criteria, or screens, and shareholder advocacy to achieve their social objectives. Among the issues on which the Adviser evaluates companies and pursues shareholder advocacy are: Product Safety and Desirability, Workplace Policies and Practices, Environmental Impact, Community Relations, and Corporate Governance and Accountability.

The Fund actively engages in promoting corporate accountability and social change through company dialogue and shareholder resolutions, proxy voting, public policy testimony and educational outreach. In doing so, the Fund urges companies to recognize that the sustainability of their profits is connected, in part, to how they treat workers, customers, communities and the natural environment as valuable, long-term assets. With $1.7 billion in assets under management, Walden Asset Management is a division of Boston Trust & Investment Management Company, an employee-owned firm that has managed investments since 1974.
